

We are beginning the year by revisiting our school values:

- Care
- Aspire
- Respect
- Excel

Monday 8th September 2025

Dear families, Happy Monday! We are very pleased to be starting our first full week back at school. In particular, we are looking forward to our first Forest School sessions today for years 1 and 2, and our expert-led PE coaching and Music lessons for all children on Wednesday.

Towards the end of the week, reading books will be sent home and Knowledge Organisers will be shared, so that you can support your children with learning at home too.

Wishing all our children a safe and happy week.

Kind regards

Mrs Baker

We are extremely proud of our 'Nurturing Norbot': The culmination of all of our children's design ideas. Please do come and visit him in Reception today and tomorrow morning, before he journeys to Cribb's Mall on Tuesday, to take part in a Grand Schools' Exhibition. Any final donations to The Grand Appeal, via the link below, would be very welcome

Our newest members of the school community enjoyed getting to know each other in the outdoor area this week.

As you can see, learning and activities have begun in a variety of ways across the school. We are especially delighted to welcome Mr. Bayliss, who is completing his teacher training with us this year. This term, he will be working in Oak Class, and we know he will bring great energy and enthusiasm to the children's learning.

Save the date!

Can you guess which members of Linden Class drew these portraits in the style of popular children’s author, Rob Biddulph?

Saturday 13th September is Roald Dahl Day. Thank you to Arya for sharing this beautiful artwork.

We will undoubtedly be sharing stories in school. I hope families can mark the day by taking the chance to share some of their favourite characters or titles at home.

Children have already begun earning Crew Points for demonstrating School Values and using their Learning Powers. Well done to Mya from Walnut Class, Jake from Maple Class and Austin from Linden Class for earning Mrs Baker’s very first Crew points for showing Respect!
