

Monday 22nd September

Dear families, we hope you are enjoying some welcome sun. This week, we are looking forward to our first Crew afternoon, which is going to be a Winscombe School Art Exhibition, inspired by the book 'Begin Again,' from Oliver Jeffers. We have been thinking about our school values and how they can help us make a good start to the year. In different classes, children have created art work around the themes of caring, aspiring, respecting and excelling. We hope that you will have the opportunity to enjoy the children's work, when you join us for our 'Welcome to my School' meeting on Tuesday afternoon – 2.40pm in the school hall.

Kind regards

Mrs Baker

Well done Jaxon ...

We feel very proud of Jaxon, who shows respect to his friends and teachers by sitting sensibly, looking smart, smiling and listening carefully. All the adults in school notice this.

Thank you to children from year 5, who spent time in Silver Birch Class last week, playing so nicely and getting to know their reading buddies. We know that next time, they will enjoy time sharing stories together.

Crew Points:

Cameron	163
Brunel	155
Matthew	144
Concorde	135

Well done to everyone who earned crew points this week!

Wanted!

A year 6 parent rep for the PTFA.

For further details.

Last week, the music room came alive with the sounds of piano, guitar, and drumming. It was great to hear such a variety of music filling the space.

Mrs Baker particularly enjoyed Wilbur, on the drums!

Year 3 were treated to a Stone Age workshop last week, where among other skills, they learnt to use clay to make simple pots and beads for jewellery.

Our youngest school members have been busy getting creative this week, with seasonal artwork and self-portraits. I am sure you will agree that they have worked hard to think about shape and proportion.

Finley, year 1

Leonie, year R

Guess who? Year 1

Thank you to all of our year 6 children who applied to be Crew Captains. The speeches were super and the votes were so close. We are pleased to announce this year’s Crew Captains and Vice Captains as follows

Well done to this week’s Gold award winners, Arya and Annis. Miss Dewey is extremely proud of your hard-working attitudes and your positive approach to learning in class. In our celebration assembly on Friday, we also enjoyed sharing a swimming certificate, football awards, a ski trophy, a gymkhana rosette & a Beaver of the Year award!
