

Monday 29th September

Dear families, it was lovely to welcome so many of you to classes on Tuesday afternoon to enjoy the children's art work and to meet new teachers. For those of you who didn't get chance to pop in, this week's newsletter is showcasing the variety of work created in each year group. Each class thought carefully about beginning the new year together and the part they all play in making our school a safe and happy place to be. In other news, last Friday marked 'National Teaching Assistants' Day,' and was an opportunity to say thank you for all of the time and care our support staff offer our pupils. We are extremely lucky at Winscombe to have such an experienced, dedicated and caring team and I am sure you will join me in sharing this appreciation. Best wishes for the week ahead.
Mrs. Baker

Linden Class _____ thought about their individuality and also how they can collaborate together.

Silver Birch Class _____ thought about how they all bring different qualities.

Oak Class

Thought about what we can do with our 'kind hands'

Walnut Class

thought about being a 'crew' and each having a part to play.

Maple Class

children created individual pieces to reflect their global responsibilities.

Ash Class

pupils thought about their individual parts in building the big picture.

Sycamore Class did a 3D installation and enjoyed sharing their interpretation of ‘we are all trees in a forest, no one more important than any other’.

Thank you to Scarlett, from year 4, who has written the following on her week at school:

Crew Day: On Tuesday, we had a Crew afternoon. We went into each other’s classrooms to see lots of beautiful art work. I especially liked year 3s colourful pictures of themselves. Sycamore Class did artistic trees, Silver Birch did portraits and year four made a brick wall.

Voting: I enjoyed voting for our Crew Captains. All of the speeches were great. It was an amazing surprise when the winners were announced!

Class voting: I enjoyed class voting because it was fair and everyone got a say for who they want to vote for.

Thank you very much to everyone who made Cakes for the year 6 bake sale. We raised a super £128.00 and the Children and Miss Dewey have plans to decorate their reading area with funds raised.

Crew Points:

Brunel	209
Cameron	208
Matthew	189
Concorde	183

Congratulations Crew Brunel!

Well done to this week’s Gold award winners, Annabel and Darcy G. Miss Dewey shared how much she values your kindness and friendship to others in class. In our celebration assembly on Friday, we also shared Elliot, Alex and Francis’ football trophies and Sophie’s show jumping rosette and trophy. We feel very proud of everyone’s achievements!
